stone double lock

Stone House Stone siding is a new product of the U-Plast Company. The facing panel follows a real stone texture. This material with impeccable technical characteristics is reliable, durable and resistant to environmental effects. Stone House Stone siding will become a synonym for originality, beauty and high quality of building and finishing materials. Its unique double lock system permits to install siding without junction plates, forming a complete wall as the result. Stone House Stone siding permits to look with a fresh eye at your familiar house and add some charm and color.
